

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

American Wildlands
P.O. Box 6669
Bozeman, Montana 59771

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Audubon Wyoming
Brian Rutledge, Executive Director
358 N 5th Street, Unit A
Laramie, WY 82072

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Mr. Rutledge:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

The Nature Conservancy
4245 North Fairfax Drive, Suite 100
Arlington, VA 22203-1606

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

The Nature Conservancy
Wyoming Field Office
258 Main Street, Suite 200
Lander, WY 82520

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

THE COALITION OF NPS RETIREES
5625 North Wilmot
Tucson, AZ 85750

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Continental Divide Trail Society
James R. Wolf, Director
3704 N. Charles St. (#601)
Baltimore MD 21218

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Mr. Wolf:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Defenders of Wildlife
1130 17th Street, NW
Washington, DC 20036

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Defenders of Wildlife
Rocky Mountain Region Office
303 West Mendenhall, Suite 3
Bozeman, MT 59715

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Earthjustice Headquarters
426 Seventeenth Street, 6th Floor
Oakland, CA 94612

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for “facilities improvement” in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Earthjustice Policy and Legislation
1625 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, Suite 702
Washington, DC 20036

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for “facilities improvement” in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Earthjustice Rocky Mountain Office
1400 Glenarm Place, #300
Denver, CO 80202

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for “facilities improvement” in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Environment America
44 Winter Street, 4th Floor
Boston, MA 02108

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Environment America
Federal Advocacy Office
218 D Street SE
Washington, DC 20003

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Trout Unlimited - National Office
1300 N. 17th St., Suite 500
Arlington, VA 22209-2404

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

National Parks Conservation Association
1300 19th Street, NW, Suite 300
Washington, DC 20036

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

National Wildlife Federation
11100 Wildlife Center Drive
Reston, VA 20190-5362

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for “facilities improvement” in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Natural Resources Defense Council
40 West 20th Street
New York, NY 10011

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Natural Resources Defense Council—Montana P.O. Box 70
Livingston, MT 59047

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for “facilities improvement” in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Sierra Club National Headquarters
85 Second Street, 2nd Floor
San Francisco, CA 94105

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Sierra Club Legislative Office
408 C St., N.E.
Washington, DC 20002

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

The Institute for Conservation Leadership
13 South Willson Ave, Suite 9
Bozeman, MT 59715

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Heritage Forests Campaign
1200 Eighteenth Street, N.W.
Fifth Floor
Washington, DC 20036

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

The Wilderness Society
1615 M St, NW
Washington, DC 20036

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

The Wilderness Society—Northern Rockies
Bob Ekey, Regional Director
503 W Mendenhall
Bozeman, MT 59715

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for “facilities improvement” in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Natural Resources Defense Council
40 West 20th Street
New York, NY 10011

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

NRDC Regional Office
P.O. Box 70
Livingston, MT 59047

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Western Lands Project
Janine Blaeloch, Director
P.O. Box 95545
Seattle, WA 98145-2545

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Ms. Blaeloch:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Greater Yellowstone Coalition
Mike Clark, Executive Director
P.O. Box 1874
Bozeman, MT 59771

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Mr. Clark:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Wyoming Conservation Voters
Kate M. Wright, Executive Director
P.O. Box 2664
Casper, WY 82602-2664

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Ms. Wright:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Wyoming Outdoor Council
262 Lincoln Street
Lander, WY 82520

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

SNAKE RIVER AUDUBON SOCIETY
1241 MOJAVE AVENUE
IDAHO FALLS, ID 83404-7065

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Equality State Policy Center
Dan Neal, Director
P.O. Box 1999
Laramie WY 82073
307-745-8594

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Mr. Neal:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for "facilities improvement" in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt

PROTECT THE PUTT-PUTT

A COMMUNITY ACTION ORGANIZATION

970 W BROADWAY #378
JACKSON, WY 83001

WWW.PROTECTTHEPUTTPUTT.COM

August 23, 2009

Biodiversity Conservation Alliance
Erik Molvar, Executive Director
P.O. Box 1512
Laramie, WY 82073

Re: North Cache Conveyance Project of the Bridger-Teton National Forest

Dear Mr. Molvar:

We need your help. The Forest Service Facility Realignment and Enhancement Act of 2005 (FSFREA) was a bad law. We all knew that in 2005 when FSFREA slipped through buried in an appropriations bill. Congress realized it was bad law when it immediately repealed FSFREA, effective in 2006. Now, we must convince those who still want to use FSFREA in 2009 to destroy our national heritage by selling off pieces of our National Forest to the highest bidder.

This Bush-era legislation was always bad law because it allied local Forest Service Supervisors with local real-estate developers. FSFREA allowed Supervisors to nominate valuable parcels of administrative land for sale to the highest bidder. Revenue so generated could be retained locally and used for “facilities improvement” in lieu of the normal funding sources. Therefore, FSFREA created a conflict of interest for local Forest Service Supervisors, who are charged with protecting our public lands, but who saw an opportunity to sell us out for big bucks.

Fortunately, FSFREA was seldom used; only 11 sales were completed before 2008. But, a few projects still are grandfathered. Specifically, in the Bridger-Teton National Forest, the Supervisor proposes to sell over 11 acres of prime real-estate in downtown Jackson, Wyoming. She will use the resulting $35 million to build, build, build. She wants a new Supervisors office and expansion of employee housing onto virgin forest. Her housing development more than doubles the existing footprint, ignores significant environmental impacts, creates unnecessary sprawl and lacks any objective data as justification.

We need your help to inform the ultimate decision-makers. Both newly appointed, Tom Tidwell, Chief of the US Forest Service, and Thomas Vilsack, Secretary of Agriculture, need your input on this matter.

For more information or to make suggestions to us, please visit our fledgling website at www.ProtectThePuttPutt.com. More importantly, please help us stop this FSFREA abuse through your contacts at the US Forest Service and Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Charles L. Payne, Jr.
for Protect the Putt-Putt